DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments with respect to Amended claims 1-4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Therefore, this is Final action.

Applicant cancelled claims 5-6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ikarashi et al. (US5115329A).

Ikarashi et al. teach (Fig. 1, col. 2 line 38 to col. 3 line 66) a conductive liquid crystal device comprising:

- a pair of oppositely disposed electrodes 2/4,
- at least two organic layers 3 including
 - a liquid crystalline organic layer 7,
 - an organic luminescence layer 6/5

disposed between the electrodes, wherein

- the liquid crystalline organic layer has plural regions having different electroconductivities,

Art Unit: 2871

- the organic luminescence layer emits luminescences by receiving charges (electric field) supplied by the plural regions of the liquid crystalline organic layer having different electroconductivities due to different electric fields between strip electrodes 2 and electrode 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ikarashi et al. (US5115329A).

It is conventional art that a conductive liquid crystal device wherein

- the plural regions have different alignment states of liquid crystal molecules for generating multi-domains for increasing the view angle (claim 2)
- the different alignment states of liquid crystal molecules have been formed by laser light or UV irradiation of the liquid crystalline organic layer for hardening the liquid crystalline organic layer (claim 3).
- the different alignment states of liquid crystal molecules have been formed by voltage application to the liquid crystalline organic layer for modulating light (claim 4).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify a conductive liquid crystal device as as Ikarashi et al. disclosed with (a) the plural regions have different alignment states of liquid crystal molecules for generating multi-domains to increase the view angle (claim 2), (b) the different alignment states of liquid crystal molecules have been formed by laser light or UV irradiation of the liquid crystalline organic layer for hardening the liquid crystalline organic layer (claim 3); (c) the different alignment states of liquid crystal molecules have been formed by voltage application to the liquid crystalline organic layer for modulating light (claim 4).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
